This Saturday, October 23, the Provincial Governor Julio César Estupiñán Rodríguez, and the First Secretary of the Party in the municipality of Holguín, Osmany Viñals García, returned to Los Guillenes community, of the Alcides Pino people' council, not only to see the progress of the ongoing construction actions and social transformations, within the program of Attention to the Neighborhoods, but also to orient on the priorities and needs of the residents.

The also deputy to the Cuban Parliament emphasized that the two bridges in this neighborhood are the greatest challenge to be overcome for the satisfaction of the residents of this place.

In this regard, Ortelio Leyva Rubio, General Director of the provincial construction company Domus, ratified that the priority should be the smaller bridge because it will solve not only a request of the voters, but also the transfer of drinking water and other products, as well as pedestrian and vehicular traffic.

He said that the iron bridge will be included in a second stage because, in addition to requiring more financing, it requires other resources and engineering solutions.

The Arsenio Escalona Aguilera elementary school, whose reconstruction is the other great community demand, receives the attention of Domus, explained Leyva Rubio, that is why the first place visited by the governmental and partisan delegation was this educational center which is getting ready for the restart of the school year on November 15.

At first, it will be painted, the floor will be changed, the most deteriorated doors and windows will be replaced, the square will be asphalted, repairs will be made to the bathrooms, the roof, the fences, the classrooms with their corresponding lighting - both in the main building and in the annex -, as well as other actions that have had the support of the neighbors.

The store and the butcher's shop will also see progress, as well as the family doctor's offices, especially number 22, whose steps can cause falls to the patients who are treated there.

But Los Guillenes needs spiritual life, that is why the Governor insists on the work to be done by cultural promoters, sports activists and the school itself, where there is talent to infect the villagers, and now that the epidemic situation is being overcome.

Take as an example pioneer moncadista Abdiel Rojas González, who grew from his small stature as a third grader and recited the long poem Quererse de Lejos, to the astonishment of the elders, who claimed to lose the rhyme in the second stanza.

Also noteworthy are cases in critical situations, some registered, others not, but which will still receive the support of social workers, mass organizations, and the State, depending on the particularities and existence of resources.

For example, single mothers and large children, homes without legal documentation or with construction problems, in need of support due to health problems, or other fragilities or social ruptures.

This is the case of Magalis Cobiellas López, who received a visit from the Governor and the First Secretary of the Party in the municipality to verify her situation and make possible solutions.

In summary, the Governor of the province of Holguín highlighted the work of the delegates and the community groups together with the people, but insisted that it is necessary to deepen in the investigation of the problems to know where there is a solution, for example, in the legalization of the houses, which individuals to include in the canteens SAF (System of Attention to the Family), and of those mothers with large families.

And he specified that solutions are sought to material problems present in each place, but that it is necessary to raise the socio-cultural work that leads to the unity of the neighborhood, and the corresponding action within the community itself aimed at solving its problems with the thrust of its own forces.
