The Cuban people have been paying homage to Commander in Chief Fidel Castro Ruz in different ways, in Holguin, for example, a tribute gala was held with the participation of local artists who perform the most diverse expressions of art, which was very well received for the total dedication to a man who lives more and more each day given the hard times we live in and the increase of enemy threats.

In a brilliant night at Eddy Suñol Theater, there was a voice that contributes to saving bodies and souls as so do artists. There a young doctor took the floor to talk about Fidel and the gratitude of the children of this land, who like him, overcame as people and professional and now pay his debt thru the the confrontation of Covid-19.

José Antonio Méndez Mora, a physician specialized as a clinician, pointed out that it was a beautiful gala, full of many emotions, where all the performances, all the words expressed came from the soul, from the heart, because five years after Fidel's departure to eternity, to immortality, we cannot say that he has died, the Commander has not died, he will never die, five years later we remember him and he is more alive than ever, He is present in all of us, he is present in the difficult moments, in the moments of joy, in the achievements, in every victory, really, the words I said and the things I expressed there were born from my soul, because we are eternally grateful to him, because thanks to him I am the person I am today, I am a doctor, I can help others, I can save human lives, and his work is everywhere.

It was a beautiful gala, with many emotions, many feelings, and the most beautiful thing that our Commander deserves.

- Fidel on the Granma yacht expedition, in the Sierra Maestra fight and in the plain... and you in the red zone.

That's right, that's right, in the red zone facing the Covid-19 pandemic, but always with Fidel's guidance, his thoughts, and with the strength that he also gives us from Eternity.

There is continuity then.

-Of course there is, of that we are certain, continuity is guaranteed, not as a simple phrase, as an empty word, but with concrete facts as we are demonstrating every day, affirmed the also member of the National Committee of the Young Communist Youth Union (UJC) and its general secretary in the bureau of the Lenin Hospital.

José Antonio Méndez Mora is not a unique case, like him there are thousands in Cuba, grateful that continue betting for a better nation, with all and for the good of all, as our José Martí said.
